The brute force of its design, the matte chrome metal is in complete contrast to the cool serpent scales running along its body. Mysterious, covered in beige and bronze patterns, the ALCHEMIX "Reptile" is not easily tamed. Quite the contrary, its owner may well turn out to be the prey.

After the decoration has been transferred, the body receives a high-gloss varnish that emphasizes the futuristic character of the surface while giving it long lasting protection. The brilliant chrome of the metal elements perfectly accentuates the sporty, modern appeal of this writing instrument.

Wenge

The refined matte chrome elements of this new writing instrument make a striking contrast to the natural, creating a bold composition of nature and elegance.

A new dimension in creativity.

The ALCHEMIX collection brings creativity and design together through technology. To enhance its Carbon and Wenge models, Caran d'Ache has used a water-transfer printing process that, incredibly, allows a decoration to be printed in three dimensions.

The writing instruments have plunged into this dynamic technology to incorporate an image in 360 degrees. The infinite potential of the process opens up limitless possibilities for the imagination of Caran d'Ache designers.
